

UK College of Public Health Research Day

Thursday, April 21, 2016

Lexington Convention Center

Thoroughbred 3

Chair: Emily Dressler, PhD

Assistant Professor, Division of Cancer Statistics,
Department of Biostatistics
University of Kentucky

1:45 - 3:15 pm: Research Presentations

“Social Network Analysis of Cellphone Surveillance Data for Ebola in Sierra Leone”

Jia B. Kangbai

“Correlates of Antibiotic Diversion in the Philippines: Misconceptions and Community-Level Access to Nonmedical Sources of Antibiotics”

Daniel Barber

“Trajectories Identifying Robust-Normal, Prodromal-Normal and Non-Normal Participants at Baseline Using CERAD T-scores and Premorbid Estimates of Cognitive Ability ”

Frank Appiah

“Health Considerations in Late-Life Cancer Survivors”

Aasha I. Hoogland

“Alarming Increases in Newborn Hepatitis C Exposure Rates Linked to Increasing Opioid Use During Pregnancy in the UK Neonatal Intensive Care Unit”

Jordan T. Perkins

“Correlates of Hepatitis C Serostatus Disclosure in Rural Appalachian Kentucky”

Megan G. Hofmeister

3:30 - 5:30 pm: Poster Session

In Conjunction with:

UK Center for Clinical and Translational Science
11th Annual Spring Conference

